Community evening with
Peta Pellach Jones

Peta Jones Pellach is a Jewish educator and activist living in West Jerusalem. She has been engaged in interfaith dialogue for many years. These experiences have enriched her through deep friendships and have enabled her to develop a far more nuanced and profound understanding of her own faith. This evening, she will speak about how, through openness to the wisdom of other cultures and faith traditions, she has come closer to the divine source of all faith.

This event will be held in English.
